

it's your vote. . .

When it comes to your vote at the elections, the choice you typically have is between two opposing parties, neither of which reflect your values and principles. However, new ways of voting are changing politics. The Christian Peoples Alliance has been birthed to offer you people and policies that can make a difference.

Getting elected requires just 5% of the vote. Your vote for a Christian vision of transformation will count because of proportional representation (PR). In London in 2000, the CPA's Mayoral candidate, Ram Gidoomal CBE, won support from nearly 100,000 people after only 100 days of campaigning. So next time you vote, the choice you make could help put a campaigning Christian Democrat into office.

Some of the benefits of Christian Democracy you'll want to consider before using your vote next time:

Working for a Just Society is at the heart of the CPA. Your choice can help the CPA in its campaign to transform some of the most deprived parts of Britain.

Supporting family and marriage Marriage is the best environment to raise children but is being undermined by politicians of every persuasion who say 'anything goes'. Your decision could put someone into the gap to speak Christian truth and love.

Working for Reconciliation You can help us seek racial justice and equality and ensure the voiceless have a voice in the corridors of power.

Support for Life Ideals that respect the dignity of human life from conception to natural death are being eroded. The CPA can make a difference in shaping a new ethic of care for the most vulnerable.

. . . please make your vote count

Why back the Christian Peoples Alliance?

- 1 Proportional representation is changing politics
- 2 Christian Democrats give you a new choice
- 3 Our democracy needs a Christian voice

Alan Craig wins in Newham in 2002

Support for CPA

- The Times reports that CPA May 2000 election manifesto is closest to views of Londoners
- Church leaders including Baptists, Pentecostals, Methodists, New Church and Anglican and Roman Catholic bishops urge voters to consider voting CPA
- CPA wins backing of Christian Democrat politicians in Holland, Belgium, Norway, Sweden, Finland and Hungary
- Muslim, Hindu and Sikh community groups back Ram for London Mayor
- In May 2002, over 5 per cent of the electorate vote CPA in local elections
- Alan Craig makes history by winning seat in London's officially most deprived district
- Standing in a third of London boroughs, 43 per cent of candidates are ethnic minority and nearly half are women

Christian Democrats elected to serve you

The CPA is an alliance that seeks to transform politics with Biblical values and principles and give you a unique and different option at the elections. Our purpose is to reinstate the Christian roots of democracy by being elected under proportional representation at every level in local regional, national and European elections.

If you would like to see CPA candidates serving the community and campaigning for policies undergirded with Biblical values and principles, then contact us to find out more.
